

Triple bottom line management

Grupo Nueva is a leading company in the forestry sector and wood derivatives, which stands out for creating sustainable value through the Triple Bottom Line Management, which is:

Maximum financial return + environmental and social excellence

On each of our efforts, the economic performance, the environmental protection and the contribution to society in which we operate are intrinsically linked.

- a. Our aim is to differentiate ourselves through excellent social and environmental management, while always endeavoring to create economic value for our companies.
- b. We trust that doing business responsibly is the best investment to create value in a sustainable manner over time.
- c. We believe that the quality of current and future life depends on the capacity to satisfy basic human needs while protecting the environment on which all forms of life depend.
- d. In all our operations and businesses, we aspire at having a positive impact, contributing to the improvement of societies and creating trust among all our stakeholders.
- e. Through this strategy, we contribute to the solution of social problems, especially in relation to climate change and the development of inclusive businesses contributing to the reduction of poverty.
